Bird Droppings
1

Aug. 17, 2019
Just got a new nest.
Old one blew away in a tornado.
Good thing my typewriter didn't break.
It just fell to the ground, and that's where I am now,
seeing as how it's too heavy for me to lift.
So I just made me a new nest, here on the ground.
Can't just leave my typewriter here unguarded.

I think I'll be alright here.
My new home is beside a dumpster,
behind a convenience store.
Just me and my typewriter,
and my new nest. I found a piece of cardboard,
leaned it at an angle for some shelter.
I plan on reporting regularly from this location.
I've named my new journal "Bird Droppings".
Not sure how often I'll be dropping lines, though.
Gotta settle in to my new surroundings first.

bye for now,
Bird